Alaska Wildbird Rehabilitation Center membership campaign, Founding members will help shape the organization as a 501-C3. Our non-profit organization is dedicated to help save Alaska's wild bird populations including songbirds, waterfowl, owls, and eagles!

Alaska Wildbird Rehabilitation Center provides professional animal care and rehabilitation to sick, injured or orphaned wild birds and educates the public about wild birds. The center's medical and rehabilitation facility are located next to Prator Lake in Houston, Alaska.

Your tax-deductible membership donation will be used to support Alaska Wildbird Rehabilitation Center's operational costs including bird food, medical supplies, and veterinary costs!
